Dedham, Ill., Aug. 20.—Morton A. Eastman of Wellsville, N. Y., and Miss Maud Rockwood of Bluffs, Ill., were held by the police here this morning and later were taken to Bluffs by the father of the young lady, B. F. Rockwood, Esq. The two men were charged with abduction and the young lady was said by the father to be not of age. All three arrived on the 3 a. m. train. The young lady was taken to a hotel at Bluffs from New York and the two men sat in front until about 6 o'clock waiting for the County Clerk's office to open. A policeman with a telegram from the girl's father took the two into custody. The young man said the girl was of age and that they had a right to marry. The father arrived at noon and said the girl was under his care and he would prosecute the young men with abduction. His son, B. F. Rockwood, Jr., had been deputized as an officer and he took the two young men back with him, while the father took the girl. He said he would prosecute the men. Eastman, he said, was studying to be a preacher and had stopped at his house six weeks while trying to get a school. He had fallen in that, but had won the daughter's regard. He objected to the match. The two young men planned the elopement.

PART OF CITY WILL BE IN DARKNESS.

Public to Suffer Again for Municipal Assembly's Delay in Passing Lighting Ordinances.

NOT THE CONTRACTOR'S FAULT.

Welsbach Company Will Light Most of Its Lamps September 1, Although Not Required to Do So Until January 1.

The Board of Public Improvements will issue orders this morning to the Welsbach Lighting Company to commence lighting the city on September 1 in every district in which the mantle lamps are in position. The company is under contract to furnish 11,000 lights after January 1, but the agreement is that the contract is to become effective so soon before that time as the company is ready to begin lighting the streets.

So far only 4,000 lamps have been located, but the work is progressing with all dispatch and there will be more than 5,000 ready by the first of next month. However, as no provisions were made, nor appropriations directed, authorizing a contract for temporary lighting, several portions of the city will be in utter darkness after September 1, when the present temporary contract expires.

The lack of lights will be another result of the delay on the part of the Municipal Assembly in passing the ordinances to authorize lighting contracts to take effect upon the expiration of the old contracts last December. The Welsbach company is in no manner to blame. In agreeing to furnish lights in any number before January 1, 1901, it volunteered an accommodation to the public which it is under no obligation to fulfill.

A large part of the district west of Grand avenue and north of Natural Bridge road and the territory west of Taylor avenue and north of Arsenal street promise to be dark from September 1 until the Welsbach company can erect the posts and place the lamps. It is expected that the delay will not be longer than several weeks in any region, as 120 lamps are being located each day.

It is said that there are two reasons why the company has been unable to finish the work before September 1. The weather has been such that the workmen frequently have been obliged to rest in the warm hours of the day, and, besides, the company could not procure a sufficient number of expert men.
